2010 US Class and Junior Open coming to Houston

NTD Francisco Guadalupe writes:

In my continuing efforts to bring more chess to the State of Texas, I submitted bids for the 2010 US Class and 2010 US Junior Open Championships. Both of these are considered National events. I am pleased to inform you that yesterday, Bill Hall, the Executive Director of the USCF, awarded me both events! Of course, in order to continue this trend of having prestigious tournaments in our area, we need good attendance. To that end, I am soliciting your support in spreading the word. For those of you who have weekend chess events near the Houston area, I am also asking that you consider not scheduling conflicting events.

As you may or may not know, the class winners of both events are considered National Champions and listed as such in the USCF Annual Yearbook. As always, there will also be articles on CLO and Texas Knights about them.

Both events will take place at the Hilton Houston Hobby Airport, so they will be very convenient to those flying in!

The US Junior Open will take place July 23-25 and the US Class on October 1-3. So...mark your calendars and, again, spread the word!

July 23-25. 2010 U.S. Junior Open. 6SS, G/120. Hilton Hobby Airport, 8181 Airport Blvd, Houston. www.houstonhobbyairport.hilton.com. Free parking! $89 HR valid until 7/19, Reserve early! 713-645-3000, Group Code: USJO. 4 Sections based on age: Under 21, Under 15, Under 11 and Under 8. July Rating Supplement. Ages for entry and prizes as of 1/1/2010. [...]

Edward James Olmos visits UTB/TSC to talk chess

BROWNSVILLE, TEXAS – FEBRUARY 17, 2010 – Actor and activist Edward James Olmos visited Brownsville on Tuesday, Feb. 16, to generate support for a film project on the development of chess in this border city.

He represented the Pasadena, Calif.-based Foundation for Advancements in Science and Education to discuss the “Kings of Brownsville” documentary being produced by Higher Ground Entertainment. The film will include interviews and footage from Brownsville Russell Elementary School’s chess students winning in local, state and national tournaments.

“It was an inspirational moment in time,” Olmos told about 400 students, staff and area residents at an evening lecture at the Student Union – Gran Salon.

He said the development of chess at Morningside Elementary School and its spreading to other schools has helped make Brownsville one of the top producers of chess players in the nation.

Olmos said chess is a beautiful game that can inspire.

“You are there and do one thing only – to see how much you know about this game,” said Olmos. “It’s a game that challenges the player and opponent. It never gives you a break.”

Olmos said he wished he played chess as much as baseball when he was growing up in East Los Angeles.

“It’s more conducive to exercising the mind more than the body,” he said.

J.J. Guajardo, a former coach of Brownsville Russell Elementary School’s chess team and now a social studies coordinator for the Mission Consolidated Independent School District, said Olmos’ visit gave legitimacy to the documentary project.

“It showed that this is a true and worthy enterprise and that what the students, the parents, the University and the community as a whole have been able to accomplish are much more than just success; it’s about a community exceeding all expectations and going beyond the norm,” said Guajardo, a UTB/TSC alumnus. “And, this is a phenomenon that should be celebrated, acknowledged and recognized in its proper context.”

Olmos also gave insights to audience questions at his evening lecture:

On science fiction films receiving attention from the Academy Awards: “‘District 9’ is a very interesting and important film, especially when you are talking about integration and other people’s opinions toward one another.”

On advice for Hispanic film makers: “Don’t ever stop now. Now is the best time to get into this art form.”

Lecture attendee Abel A. Guerra III, 24, a criminal justice major from Brownsville, said he cherished the opportunity to see Olmos.

“We are not used to seeing actors in Brownsville,” Guerra said. “I take every opportunity to come to such events of this caliber.”

Earlier in the day, Olmos spoke to area media at a press conference at Brownsville – South Padre Island International Airport and appeared before board members of the Brownsville Independent School District.

Olmos, a California native, began in music when he was a teenager but studied acting while in college. His stage and television roles have included El Pachuco in the musical stage production “Zoot Suit” and as Lt. Martin Castillo on “Miami Vice” in the mid to late 1980s. He most recently played Admiral William Adama on the science fiction show “Battlestar Galactica.”

Olmos has also been successful in movies, with roles in “Blade Runner,” “Stand and Deliver” and “Selena.” He will play the role of Michael Axford in “The Green Hornet” set for release later this year.

Some of his work has gone beyond the camera. Olmos is a United States Goodwill Ambassador for UNICEF and is involved in the UCLA School of Film and Theater, the Southwest Voter Registration Project and the Miami Children’s Hospital. The National Council of Space Directors has a literary scholarship fund in his name.

TCA Minutes

Texas Chess Association met at the Texas Scholastic Chess Championships on Saturday, February 20, 2010, Clemente Rendon presiding.

President Rendon honored the memory of Rob Sturgeon, TCA Secretary who passed away on January 11, 2010.

Motion made by Forest Marler and seconded that reading the minutes of the previous meeting be waived. Motion carried.

The Financial Report was published in the last Texas Knights. Motion made by Eddie Rios and seconded that the reading of the financial report be waived. Motion carried.

President's Report

Reports and funds have been received from the regional tournaments, which built good momentum toward the state tournament. However, numbers at the state tournament have decreased. There have not been any requests for TCA-sponsored events so far. A few cases have been referred to the Scholastic Committee. Texas Knights has been published on time, the website has been kept updated with the limited information made available to TCA.

Old Business

President Rendon read motions that were passed at the Fall meeting.

The Board was requested to prepare a plan to appoint delegates to the annual USCF membership meeting. Options include:

- 1) Current governance of TCA (Board, committees) select delegates
- 2) Appoint a new position in TCA with the responsibility of selecting delegates
- 3) Ask for volunteers using a first-come, first-selected, with a waiting list and an August/September window for volunteering
- 4) Add a write-in spot on the officer ballot
- 5) Members at the Southwest Open meeting nominate and elect the delegates

Discussion included setting criteria and perhaps a ranking system, especially if using the volunteer option. Members were reminded that the delegates are the Board of Directors of USCF. Whichever process is chosen will need to be added to the TCA Bylaws, and will need to be ready for the Fall meeting to be incorporated immediately so delegates can be selected at that meeting.

There was a question about a motion from a previous meeting which allowed 11th and 12th grades to be combined into one section at the State Grades tournament. Clarification was given that the motion stated that 11th and 12th grades may be combined.

New Business

There were no advance motions.

Motion was made by Clemente Rendon on behalf of Lakshmana Viswanath and seconded by Eddie Rios to award the 2010 Southwest Open to Lakshmana Viswanath, with TCA to pay $3000 to secure the location and be paid back from the profit on the tournament. Motion carried.

There was discussion about giving a stipend to another tournament since there is no Polgar tournament this year.

Motion was made by Bob James and seconded to nominate Stephanie Ballom to fill the vacant TCA Secretary position. Motion carried.

Motion was made by Bob James and seconded that, if sections at the State Grades tournament are merged, the organizer will provide individual trophies for each grade level. Team trophies will be left to the discretion of the organizer. Motion carried.

Bob James moved that the meeting be adjourned. Motion carried.

Respectfully submitted,
Lucy James, acting secretary

2010 Texas Scholastic Championships

The Texas Scholastic and Southwest Collegiate championships drew 1,049 players to the Sheraton Dallas. The numbers were down from last year by 350 players, no surprise given that the event was held Feb. 20-21, three weeks before spring break. Section chiefs were Fred Roper, Ben Wheeler, Eddie Rios, Rob Jones, Nam Van Nguyen, Stephanie Ballom, Jamie Jones, Tony Meza, Thomas Boone, Criselda DeLeon and Dan DeLeon. Floor TDs were Glenn Baumann, Feliciano Delapaz, Astrid Santoyo, Miguel Guajardo and Victor Flores.

Sponsors included the The University of Texas at Dallas, and the Texas Chess Association. Chief TD was Franc Guadalupe, assisted by Victor Flores. Luis Salinas worked the MonRoi uplink for the Collegiate section.

Texas Team champions: Your Queen Wants to Mate Me

Eighteen teams (77 players) played in the 2010 Texas Team Championship, held Jan. 9-10 in Austin. This is probably the largest turnout ever for this event, and certainly the largest in the USCF's online database, which goes back to 1992.

First place ($500 + trophy) went to "Your Queen Wants to Mate Me", a Houston-based team captained by NM Alex Chua. They scored 4-0, a half-point ahead of Austin's "Barely Legall", led by FM Michael Langer. In the under-1900 section, "Austin Powers" took first with 3 points.

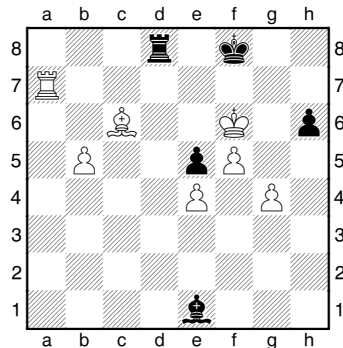

The Team Championship has traditionally been a 4-round event, but with more than 16 teams in the field, a 5-round schedule would guarantee that two teams don't each finish with perfect scores. Also, in this year's event, the first and second place teams never faced each other.

Thanks to TD Lori Balkum for an extremely well-run event!

Board prizes:

- Board 1 - FM Michael Langer (4.0)
- Board 2 - Seth Thompson (4.0)
- Board 3 - Bob Shao (3.5)
- Board 4 - Josh Newsham, Arindam Raina, Matthew Michaelides (3.5)

A bizarre mishap occurred in Rd. 3, as Richard Ketcham (2220) was coasting to a sure endgame win against Andrew Widener (2000):

Busted!

An alert reader in Austin caught a bogus solution to the back cover problem in our Jan.-Feb. issue:

Rauf Aliovsadzade
StrateGems, 2002

White to move, mate in two

The solution printed on p. 12 is wrong. 1.Nb5 mates in most lines, but not against ...Rd8, nor against ...Rd7! If ...Rd8, then, voila, 2.Nc3+ is not mate, 2.Qe1+ is not, and 2.Bxf3 is not (due to the interposition). Furthermore, 2.Rc1+ allows ...Ke2, and 2.Rxd2+ allows simply ...Rxd2! Aha! (2.Ne3+, too, allows the K to flee – up to e2!) 1...Rd7, likewise an effective defense to Nb5, stops all the mate in two tries, in rather similar fashion.

The problem itself is fine, however, since 1.Nxf3 solves it neatly!

Here are the main lines: 1...Rxf3 2.Rxd2#; 1...Re2 2.Rc1#; 1...Rd7 2.Qe1#; 1...Rd8 2.Ne5#; 1...Ke2 2.Rxd2#; 1...Rc7 or 1...Rxc8 2.Rxd2#!

Sincerely,
 John Bell

Movses Movsisyan in the Oklahoma Chess Forum writes of this game:

"I let the opening advantage slip and we entered a middlegame where my opponent had the pair of bishops and a mild attack on my king, but I would've had the better endgame in any exchange scenario. In other words, it was a roughly equal position in my opinion. Then my opponent went astray and decided to "finish me off" with unjustified complications. I went on to counter-attack that left him a piece down five moves later."

Movsisyan continues: "In round 4 I was paired against another young star: John Bartholomew (2500). The 20-move book line left me with a slightly worse endgame. I defended fairly well, but instead of going for a R+2P vs. R+N+2P, which would have been a clear-cut draw (I'd be able to exchange the pawns), I opted for a weaker continuation that was losing."
